Introduction

The Department of Research and Development successfully organized a Research Paper Writing and Journal Publication Support Workshop on 16th March 2026. The workshop aimed to enhance the research and publication skills of faculty members, research scholars, and students by providing guidance on writing high-quality research papers and navigating the journal publication process.

Objectives of the Workshop

- To provide insights into effective research paper writing techniques
- To familiarize participants with the structure and formatting of research articles
- To guide participants on selecting appropriate journals for publication
- To create awareness about indexing databases, impact factors, and ethical publishing practices
- To support researchers in avoiding plagiarism and improving manuscript quality

Workshop Highlights

- The session began with an introduction to the importance of research publications in academic and professional growth.
- Experts explained the structure of a research paper, including abstract, introduction, methodology, results, discussion, and conclusion.
- Participants were guided on literature review techniques and referencing styles such as IEEE, APA, and MLA.
- Detailed insights were provided on journal selection, including Scopus, Web of Science, and UGC-approved journals.

- The workshop covered the submission process, peer review system, and common reasons for paper rejection.
- A session on plagiarism detection tools and ethical practices in research publishing was also conducted.
- Practical tips were shared on improving manuscript quality and responding to reviewer comments effectively.

Participation

The workshop witnessed active participation from faculty members, research scholars, and postgraduate students across various departments. The interactive sessions encouraged participants to clarify their doubts and engage in discussions.

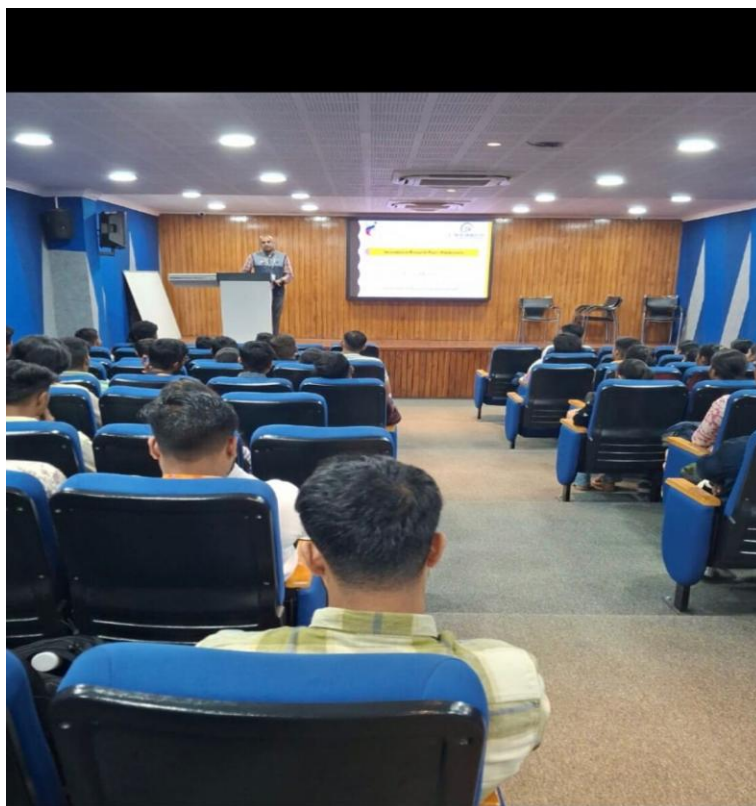

Outcomes

- Participants gained a clear understanding of research paper writing and publication processes
- Improved awareness about high-quality journals and indexing systems
- Enhanced ability to structure and present research work effectively
- Increased confidence among participants to publish their research in reputed journals

Conclusion

The workshop was highly informative and beneficial, equipping participants with essential skills required for academic publishing. The Department of Research and Development remains committed to promoting research excellence by organizing such capacity-building programs in the future.

The eminent expert delivered the lecture and his talk has been very well received by the 35 participants. 35 faculty members are benefitted.
